Part II Course Details

Abstract

Enable students to understand, discover, and evaluate critically alternative management and policy implementation strategies for organizing and delivering public services. During the course, students will develop critical skills and innovative ideas in comparative analysis in relation to a variety of approaches to effective public sector management, governance and regulation. Opportunities are provided for focused, in-depth comparative study of issues and topics drawn from areas such as: modernising disciplined services; managing heritage, leisure and cultural services; the delivery of family and social service programmes; performance evaluation and audit; private and third sector (NGO and not-for-profit) involvement in public services delivery and in social enterprise; crisis management and also logistics. The selection of topics addressed each year may vary.
